

I support the use of New Jersey tax money to defend a challenge by the FCC to NJ's Do-Not-Call law. State laws may not contravene our US Constitution however, state laws may differ from federal laws. It is my opinion that NJ's law provides greater protection to its citizens. While telemarketers may assert that their rights are being violated, it is imperative to protect citizens from these insidious intrusions into their privacy. Our privacy must be protected. Solicitations can occur through other, less intrusive means.
